

How to link and verify your bank account

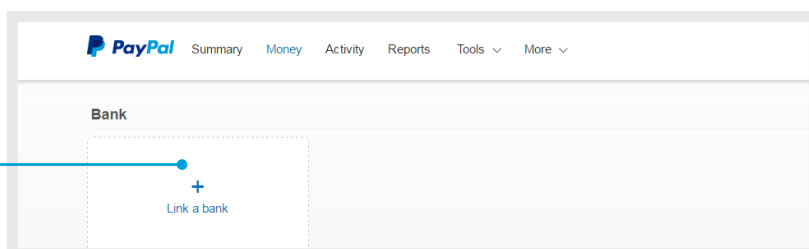

Once you've linked a bank account to your PayPal account, you'll be able to withdraw funds you receive from customers.

Follow these simple steps to add your bank account:

- 1 Log into your PayPal account

- 2 Click on the Money tab and Link a Bank

- 3 Enter your bank account information and select Continue.

A screenshot of the 'Add a bank account in South Korea' form. The form includes a security notice, a warning about name matching, and several input fields: 'Country' (set to South Korea), 'Name on account' (with a note about a 5,000 KRW return fee if names don't match), 'Bank Name', 'Account Type' (radio buttons for Checking and Savings), 'Bank Code' (with a link to see bank codes), 'Account Number' (up to 14 digits), and 'Re-enter Account Number'. At the bottom, there are 'Continue' and 'Cancel' buttons. A blue line with a dot at the end points from the third step of the instructions to the 'Continue' button.

Verifying your bank account

Verification lifts the withdrawal limits on your PayPal account. To verify your account, we'll make two small deposits (less than $1 each equivalent) into the bank account provided. After 4 to 5 business days, review your bank statement or contact your bank to find out the exact amounts of these deposits.

Once you see these deposits in your account, enter the two amounts into the verification section of your PayPal account. This will complete the verification process and lift your withdraw limit.