Some of the ways our employees are engaged in improving financial health for all

Supporting FinTech Entrepreneurs

Through our partnership with Village Capital, a nonprofit that trains and funds early-stage fintech startups, employees put their skills to use by mentoring entrepreneurs, providing technical support, and hosting workshops.

Peter Sanborn
Sr. Director,
Corporate Development

"It's energizing to work with Village Capital's entrepreneurs. There are so many exciting innovations in the pipeline that have the potential to impact the lives of people around the world."

Financial Exclusion Immersion Experiences

Through these workshops, our employees put themselves in the shoes of people underserved by the traditional financial system to develop a more personal understanding of the challenges they face in their financial lives.

Meghna Singh
Product Manager,
Consumer Financial Services

"Experiencing their pain points first hand was humbling and frustrating. It has made me more motivated than ever to create better products and experiences that help people access and manage their money."

Mentoring high school students

We partner with Network For Teaching Entrepreneurship, an organization that brings financial literacy and business skills to local high school students.
