- Open a Dispute.* Open a Dispute within one hundred and eighty (180) days of the date you made the payment, to negotiate with the Receiving User for resolution of the Dispute.
- Escalate the Dispute to a Claim.* If you and the Receiving User are unable to come to an agreement, you can escalate the Dispute to a Claim within twenty (20) days after opening the Dispute.

You must wait at least seven (7) days from the date of payment to escalate a Dispute for an Item Not Received (INR) to a Claim. If you do not escalate the Dispute to a Claim within twenty (20) days, PayPal will permanently close the Dispute.

- c. Respond to PayPal's requests for information in a timely manner. During the Claim process, PayPal may require you to provide documentation to support your position. You may be asked to provide proof of delivery, receipts, third party evaluations, police reports, or anything else that PayPal specifies. PayPal may require the Receiving User to present evidence to PayPal in a timely manner that the Receiving User delivered to the Paying User the purchase as agreed with the Paying User, even where the purchase is not eligible for PayPal Buyer Protection under Section 8.4 above. If the Receiving User does not present such evidence in a timely manner, PayPal may find in favor of the Paying User. If the Receiving User presents such evidence in a timely manner, PayPal may find in favor of the Receiving User even if the Paying User claims to have not received the purchase.
- d. Comply with PayPal's shipping requests in a timely manner. For Significantly Not as Described (SNAD) Claims, the shipment of the item back to the Receiving User, to PayPal or to a third party, as instructed by PayPal, is a condition for the reimbursement of the Paying User. Proof of delivery of the item to the Receiving User must be sent to PayPal.

For transactions that total less than R$1,750.00 (one thousand, seven hundred fifty Brazilian Reais) proof of delivery is a document that includes the delivery address showing at least city/state or postal code, shipment date, and the URL to the shipping/logistics company's website if you've selected "Other" in the shipping/logistics company menu. For transactions that total R$1,750.00 (one thousand, seven hundred fifty Brazilian Reais) or more or the amounts in other currencies as listed in the table below, you must also get a signature confirmation of the delivery from a person responsible for the receipt.

Signature delivery confirmation requirement – For transactions that total R$1,750.00 (one thousand, seven hundred fifty Brazilian Reais) or more (or the foreign currency threshold in the table below):

8.7 Claim Resolution Process. Once a Dispute has been converted into a Claim, PayPal will make a final decision in favor of the Paying User or the Receiving User. You may be asked to provide receipts, third party evaluations, police reports, or any other document of information that PayPal specifies. PayPal retains full discretion to make a final decision in favor of the Paying User or the Receiving User. When PayPal makes such final decision both Users must comply with PayPal’s decision.

8.7.1 PayPal will generally require the Paying User to ship back to the Receiving User, at the Paying User's expense, the item the Paying User claims is Significantly Not as Described (SNAD) and PayPal will generally require the Receiving User to accept the item back and refund the Paying User the full purchase value plus original shipping costs.

8.7.2 In the event the Receiving User loses a Claim, the Receiving User will not receive a refund on his or her PayPal fees associated with the transaction. If you are a Receiving User and you lose a Significantly Not as Described (SNAD) Claim because the item you sold is counterfeit, you will be required to provide a full refund to the Paying User and you may not receive the item back.

8.8 Digital Goods Micropayment Disputes and Claims. If you file a Dispute for a Digital Goods purchase of up to R$7.99 (seven Brazilian Reais and ninety-nine cents) or its equivalent according to the amounts in the table below, PayPal may, at its sole discretion, refund the transaction without requiring you to escalate the Dispute to a Claim.

8.8.1 PayPal may limit the number of Digital Goods refunds that you may receive. However, if these are limited or if your purchase is not eligible for PayPal Buyer Protection coverage, you will still be able to follow PayPal’s standard dispute resolution process described in this Section 7 to attempt to resolve the issue with the Receiving User directly.

8.9 Relationship between PayPal's protection programs and Chargebacks. Credit or debit card Chargeback rights, if they apply, may be broader than PayPal’s protection programs. For example, Chargebacks may cover unsatisfactory items even if they do not qualify as Significantly Not As Described (SNAD). You, Paying User, may pursue a Dispute/Claim with PayPal, or you may contact your credit or debit card company or issuer and pursue your Chargeback rights. You may not pursue both at the same time or seek a double recovery. If you have an open Dispute or Claim with PayPal, and also file a Chargeback with your credit or debit card company or issuer, PayPal will close your Dispute or Claim, and you will have to rely solely on your Chargeback rights.

8.10 Contact with Receiving User. Before contacting your credit or debit card company or issuer or filing a Dispute with PayPal, you, Paying User, should contact the Receiving User to resolve your issue in accordance with the Receiving User's return policy as stated on their website.

9. Errors and Unauthorized Transactions.

9.1 Protection for Unauthorized Transactions and Errors. When an Unauthorized Transaction or an Error occurs in your Account, PayPal will cover you for the full amount of every eligible Unauthorized Transaction or Error so long as you follow the procedures discussed below.

9.1.1 An Unauthorized Transaction occurs when a payment is sent from your Account that you, Paying User, did not authorize and that did not benefit you. For example, if someone steals your password, uses the password to access your Account and sends a payment from your Account, an Unauthorized Transaction has occurred. If you, Paying User, give someone access to your Account (by giving them your login information) and they conduct transactions without your knowledge or permission, you are responsible for such Unauthorized Transaction.

9.1.2 An Error occurs when in your Account Profile or activity or transaction confirmation sent to you by email there is a processing error including but not limited to the amount debited, pending transactions and/or preauthorized transfers.

9.2 Notification Requirements. You, Paying User, should immediately notify PayPal if you believe:

- a. there has been an Unauthorized Transaction or unauthorized access to your Account;
- b. there is an Error in your Account history statement (you can access your Account history by logging into your Account and clicking on a link to "View all of my transactions") or in a transaction confirmation sent to you by email;
- c. there is an Error in the amount debited from you, in a charge debited from your Account, in pending transactions and/or in preauthorized transfers;
- d. your password or PayPal Mobile PIN has been compromised;
- e. your PayPal Mobile-activated phone has been lost, stolen or deactivated; or
- f. you need more information about a transaction listed on the statement or transaction confirmation.

9.3 Eligibility. To be eligible for protection for Unauthorized Transactions, you, Paying User, must notify us within sixty (60) days after any Unauthorized Transaction first appears in your Account history statement. We will extend the sixty (60) day period if a force majeure event, such as a hospital stay, kept you from notifying us within sixty (60) days.

9.4 Access your Account. You should regularly log into your Account and review your Account history statement to ensure that there has not been an Unauthorized Transaction or Error. PayPal will also send an email to the primary email address you have provided in order to notify you of each transaction from your Account. You should also review these payment transaction confirmations to ensure that each transaction was authorized and is accurate.

9.5 Notification to PayPal. For Unauthorized Transactions or Errors in your Account, notify us as follows:

- a. Login to your PayPal account and use the form existing on PayPal's website to file a report in the PayPal Security Center; or
- b. Call PayPal Customer Service at 0800 047 4482.

9.5.1 Information. When you notify us, provide us with all of the following Information:

- a. Your name and email address registered to your Account;
- b. A description of each suspected Unauthorized Transaction or Error and an explanation as to why you believe it is incorrect or why you need more information to identify the transaction; and
- c. The amount of each suspected Unauthorized Transaction or Error.

9.5.2 If you notify us orally, we may require that you send us your complaint or question in writing within ten (10) Business Days. During the course of our investigation, we may request additional information or documents from you.

9.6 PayPal Actions after Receipt of Your Notification. Once you, Paying User, notify us of any suspected Unauthorized Transaction or Error, or we otherwise learn of one, we will do the following:

- a. We will conduct an investigation to determine whether there has been an Unauthorized Transaction or Error that is eligible for protection;
- b. We will complete our investigation within ten (10) Business Days of the date we received your notification of the suspected Unauthorized Transactions or Error. If your Account is new (the first transaction from your Account was less than thirty (30) Business Days from the date you notify us), we may take up to twenty (20) Business Days to complete this investigation. If we need more time, we may take up to forty-five (45) days to complete our investigation (or up to ninety (90) days for new Accounts or a foreign initiated transaction);
- c. If we decide that we need more time to complete our investigation, we will provisionally credit your Account for the amount of the suspected Unauthorized Transaction or Error. You will receive the provisional credit within ten (10) Business Days of the date we received your notice (or twenty (20) Business Days for new Accounts). This will allow you to have use of the money until we complete the investigation. We will notify you of the provisional credit within two (2) Business Days of the crediting. If we ask you to put your complaint or question in writing and we do not receive it within ten (10) Business Days (or twenty (20) Business Days for new Accounts), we will not provisionally credit your Account;
- d. We will inform you of our decision within three (3) Business Days after completing our investigation; and
- e. As soon as we determine that there was indeed an Unauthorized Transaction or Error, we will promptly credit the full amount into your Account within one (1) Business Day of our determination. Or, if you have already received a provisional credit, you will be allowed to retain those amounts.

9.7 Negative Decision. If we decide that there was not an Unauthorized Transaction or Error, we will include an explanation of our decision in our email to you. If you, Paying User, received a provisional credit, we will remove it from your Account and notify you of the date and amount of the debit.

9.8 PayPal Errors. We will rectify any Error that we discover. If the Error results in you, Paying User or Receiving User, receiving less than the correct amount to which you are entitled, PayPal will credit your Account for the difference. If the Error results in your receipt of more than the correct amount to which you are entitled, PayPal will debit the extra funds from your Account.

9.9 Your Errors. If you erroneously send a payment to the wrong party (Receiving User), or send payment for the wrong amount (based on a typographical error, for example), your only recourse will be to contact the party to whom you sent the payment and ask them to refund the payment. PayPal will not reimburse you or reverse a payment that you, Paying User, have made in error.

10. Protection for PayPal Sellers.

10.1 PayPal Seller Protection. PayPal Seller Protection is a protection available to Receiving Users in Brazil for items sold on any website for Claims, Chargebacks, or Reversals that are based on:

- a. Unauthorized Transaction (except for any “Unauthorized Payment” initiated in an environment not hosted by PayPal); or
- b. Item Not Received.

10.1.1 PayPal Seller Protection is available for "eligible payments" under the terms of Section 10.3 (Eligibility Requirements) below, from Paying Users whose accounts are located in any country.

10.1.2 Before receiving payment from a Paying User in another country, you should review the relevant PayPal Buyer Protection policies available in such country as such policies will be applicable to the payment received by you.

10.2 Scope of Protection. PayPal will protect the Receiving User for the full amount of the eligible payment and waive the Chargeback Fee, if applicable.

10.3 Eligibility Requirements. To be eligible for (i) PayPal Seller Protection, you, Receiving User, must meet all of the Basic Requirements; Item Not Received (INR) protection the Receiving User must meet both the Basic Requirements and the Item Not Received (INR) Additional Requirements; and (iii) Unauthorized Transactions protection the Receiving User must meet both the Basic Requirements and the Unauthorized Transactions Additional Requirements as described below:

- The item sold must be a physical, tangible good that can be shipped by a Shipping Company; and
- Your main address, as listed in your PayPal Account, must be in Brazil.

- For Claims, the payment does not need to be marked “eligible” or “partially eligible” for PayPal Seller Protection; and
- You must provide proof of delivery as described below in Section 10.4. (Proof of Shipment, Proof of Delivery, and Signature Confirmation).

c. Unauthorized Transactions Additional Requirements:

- The payment must be marked "eligible" for PayPal Seller Protection on the "Transaction Details Page".

10.4.2 Proof of Shipment. The "Proof of Shipment" is the documentation issued electronically or physically by the Shipping Company that includes the following information:

- a. The date the item is shipped; and
- b. The recipient's (Paying User) address which must be the same as in the shipping address section on the "Transaction Details Page" and must contain at least the city & state, or city & country, or zip/postal code (or international equivalent).

10.4.3 Proof of Delivery. The "Proof of Delivery" for intangible items is documentation satisfactory to PayPal that the item was provided to the Paying User such as proof of download including the date of fulfillment.

PayPal Seller Protection does not apply to intangible items. However, having proper Proof of Delivery can help a Receiving User win a Paying User's Item Not Received Buyer Protection Claim.

The "Proof of Delivery" for tangible items is the documentation issued electronically or physically by the Shipping Company that includes the following information:

- a. The date the item was delivered.
- b. The status of the delivery evidencing that the item was delivered.
- c. The recipient's (Paying User) address which must be the same as in the shipping address section on the "Transaction Details Page" and must contain at least the city & state, or city & country, or zip/postal code (or international equivalent).
- d. Signature Confirmation as defined below if the full amount of the payment including shipping and taxes, is R$1,750.00 (one thousand seven hundred fifty Brazilian Reais) or more, or the foreign currency threshold indicated in the table below:

Currency	Transaction value	Currency	Transaction value
Australian Dollar:	850 AUD	New Zealand Dollar:	950 NZD
Brazilian Real:	1,750 BRL	Norwegian Krone:	4,600 NOK
Canadian Dollar:	850 CAD	Philippine Peso:	34,000 PHP
Czech Koruna:	15,000 CZK	Polish Zlotych:	2,300 PLN
Danish Krone:	4,100 DKK	Russian Ruble:	48,000 RUB
Euro:	550 EUR	Singapore Dollar:	950 SGD
Hong Kong Dollar:	6,000 HKD	Swedish Krona:	4,950 SEK
Hungarian Forint:	170,000 HUF	Swiss Franc:	700 CHF
Israeli Shekel:	2,700 ILS	Taiwan New Dollar:	23,000 TWD
Japanese Yen:	77,000 JPY	Thai Baht:	24,500 THB
Malaysian Ringgit:	3,100 MYR	U.K. Pounds Sterling:	450 GBP

Mexican Peso:	10,000 MXN	U.S. Dollar:	750 USD
---------------	------------	--------------	---------

10.4.4 Signature Confirmation. "Signature Confirmation" is electronic documentation that can be viewed at the Shipping Company's website and indicates that the item was signed for by a responsible party on delivery. If the Shipping Company is Correios, the Signature Confirmation is the electronic or physical Delivery Receipt (Aviso de Recebimento - AR) that is issued by Correios.

10.5 Items/Transactions not Eligible for PayPal Seller Protection. The following are examples of items or payment transactions not eligible for PayPal Seller Protection:

- a. Claims or Chargebacks for Significantly Not as Described (SNAD).
- b. Items that you deliver in person to recipient (Paying User) including at a point of sale.
- c. Intangible items, including Digital Goods and services.
- d. Items that are not shipped to the recipient's shipping address on the "Transaction Details Page". If you originally ship the item to the recipient's (Paying User) shipping address but after such shipment the item is redirected to a different address, you will not be eligible for PayPal Seller Protection (even if you do not have any relation to such redirection). We therefore recommend not using a shipping service that is arranged by the Paying User, so that you will be able to provide valid proof of shipping and delivery.
- e. Items that you have shipped after PayPal has advised you not to ship. PayPal may advise you about such prohibition through the following methods:
 - In your "Transaction History" (which you can view in your Account with PayPal);
 - By means of email sent by PayPal; and
 - By means of a message to your PayPal Account.
- f. It involves sales that are not processed either through a Paying User's PayPal Account or PayPal Plus. For example, if the sale was made using credit cards directly then it is not eligible for coverage.
- g. Items equivalent to currency (including, without limitation, gift cards).
- h. Donations.
- i. Financial products and/or investments.
- j. Payment received via Mass Payments.

10.6 Ineligible Sellers. If PayPal determines that you, Receiving User, had an excessive number of Claims, Chargebacks, or Reversals during a given period, you may become ineligible for PayPal Seller Protection. In such an event, PayPal will send you with a written notice. If subsequently the number of the Claims, Chargeback or Reversals in your Account is reduced, you may become eligible for PayPal Seller Protection again and in such a case, PayPal shall notify you in writing of your eligibility.

11. Restricted Activities.

11.1 Restricted Activities. In connection with the use of our website, of your Account, of the PayPal Services, or in the course of your interactions with PayPal, other Users, or third parties, you, Paying User or Receiving User, will not:

- j. Control an Account that is linked to another Account that has engaged in any of the Restricted Activities mentioned in this Section;

- m. Use your Account or the PayPal Services in a manner that PayPal, Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Hiper, ELO, Discover or any other electronic funds transfer network or card association reasonably believes to be an abuse of their respective systems or a violation of card association or network rules;
- n. Allow your Account to have a negative balance;
- o. Provide yourself a cash advance from your credit or debit card (or help others to do so);
- p. Access the PayPal Services from a country that is not listed in the "Worldwide" page on PayPal's website;
- q. Disclose or distribute another User's information to a third party, or use such information for marketing purposes unless you receive the respective User's express consent to do so;
- r. Send unsolicited email to a User or use the PayPal Services to collect payments for sending, or assisting in sending, unsolicited email to third parties;

- w. Take any action that may cause us to lose or impact any of the services from our Internet service providers, payment processors, or any other suppliers or service providers; or
- x. Abuse (as either a Paying User or Receiving User) of the Dispute Resolution process and/or PayPal Buyer Protection.

12. Your Liability - Actions We May Take.

12.1 Your Liability as a Paying User or Receiving User.

- a. General. You are responsible for all Reversals, Chargebacks, Claims, fees, fines, penalties and other liability incurred by PayPal, a User, or a third party caused by or arising out of your breach of this Agreement, and/or your use of the PayPal Services. You agree to indemnify PayPal, a User, or a third party for any and all damage or loss related to any of these.
- b. Receiving User's Liability for Claims under PayPal Buyer Protection.
 - If you are a Receiving User and you lose a Claim filed directly with PayPal, you will be required to reimburse PayPal for your liability. Your liability will include the full purchase value of the item plus the original shipping cost (and in some cases you may receive neither the item nor the PayPal Fees that you were charged for the transaction back). In this case, you may be eligible for PayPal Seller Protection in cases of Claims for Item Not Received (INR) and/or eligible Unauthorized Payments - please refer to Section 10 (PayPal Seller Protection). When you receive payment from a Receiving User in another country and we determine under the PayPal Buyer Protection Policy of that country that the funds received should be returned or reversed, you will be required to reimburse PayPal for the item's full purchase price plus the original shipping costs (and depending on the case you may not receive the item back) and the PayPal Fees charged for the transaction (before receiving payment from a Receiving User in another country, you should review the relevant PayPal Buyer Protection Policies applicable to such country, which can be accessed here).
 - If you are a Receiving User and lose a Significantly Not as Described (SNAD) Claim because we, in our sole discretion, reasonably believe the item you sold is counterfeit, you will be required to provide a full refund to the Paying User and you will not receive the item back. In this case, PayPal Seller Protection will not cover your liability for Significantly Not as Described SNAD Claims.
- c. Receiving User's Liability for Claims filed under eBay's buyer protection resolution process.
 - If you are an eBay Seller and eBay makes a final decision pursuant to its eBay Money Back Guarantee program holding you liable to reimburse the buyer, then you authorize PayPal to remove funds from your Account in an amount not greater than the amount of such claim and remit such funds to eBay or the buyer. If you do not have a balance that is sufficient to cover you the total amount of your liability, your Account will have negative balance, and you will be required to immediately reimburse PayPal through an alternative method. If you do not do so, PayPal may engage in appropriate collection efforts to recover such amounts from you, including but not limited to, include your name in the register of credit protection entities, instruct a collection agency to recover the amount due and/or initiate legal proceedings.

12.2 Reimbursement for Your Liability. In the event that you, Receiving User or Paying User, by any reason are liable for any amounts owed to PayPal, PayPal may immediately remove such amounts from your balance. If you do not have a balance that is sufficient to cover you the total amount of your liability, your Account will have negative balance, and you will be required to immediately reimburse PayPal through an alternative method. If you do not do so, PayPal may engage in appropriate collection efforts to recover such amounts from you, including but not limited to, include your name in the register of credit protection entities, instruct a collection agency to recover the amount due and/or initiate legal proceedings.

12.3 Actions by PayPal – Restricted Activities. If PayPal, in its sole discretion, believes that you, Paying User or Receiving User, may have engaged in any Restricted Activities, we may take various actions to protect PayPal, its parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, other Users, other third parties or you from Reversals, Chargebacks, Claims, fees, fines, penalties and any other liability arising out of such Restricted Activities. The actions we may take include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a. We may close, suspend, or limit your access to your Account or the PayPal Services;
- b. We may refuse to provide the PayPal Services to you;
- c. We may limit your access to our website, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf;
- d. We may hold your funds for a period of time reasonably needed to protect against the risk of liability to PayPal or a third party, or if we believe that you may be engaging in potentially fraudulent or suspicious activity and/or transactions; and
- e. We may suspend your eligibility for PayPal Buyer Protection and/or PayPal Seller Protection.

12.4 Actions by PayPal - Holds.

- a. Risk-Based Holds. PayPal, in its sole discretion, may place a hold on any or all of the payments you receive when PayPal believes there may be a high level of risk associated with you, Paying User or Receiving User, as applicable, your Account, or any of your transactions. PayPal will release the hold on any payment after 30 (thirty) days from the date the payment was received into your Account unless PayPal has a reason to continue to hold the payment such as (a) the receipt of a Dispute, Claim, Chargeback, or Reversal, (b) PayPal suspects that you may have violated the terms of this Agreement or any other Policy and that such a violation results in the need to continue holding the funds or (c) PayPal suspects that you may be engaging in potentially fraudulent or suspicious activity and/or transactions. In such an event, PayPal may continue holding the payment in your Account until the matter is resolved pursuant to this Agreement.
- b. Disputed Transaction Holds. If a Paying User files a Dispute, Claim, Chargeback or Reversal on a payment you, Receiving User, received, PayPal may place a temporary hold on the funds in your Account to cover the amount of the liability. If you, Receiving User, win the Dispute and are eligible for PayPal Seller Protection, PayPal will lift the temporary hold. If you lose the Dispute, PayPal will remove the funds from your Account. This process also applies to any claim that a buyer files directly with eBay through the eBay Money Back Guarantee program, provided that your Account is your reimbursement method for amounts you owe to eBay or to the buyer (as the case may be) under the terms of the eBay Money Back Guarantee program.
- c. Marketplace Holds. As a seller on a Marketplace, a hold may be placed on a payment sent to you at the instruction of your Marketplace. This is done once you have granted us permission to have your funds held, and will be in accordance with your agreement with your Marketplace. These holds will appear in your PayPal Account as relating to your Marketplace. If you have questions about these holds, please contact your Marketplace directly.

12.5 Actions by PayPal - Reserves. PayPal, in its sole discretion, may place a Reserve on funds held in your Account when PayPal believes there may be a high level of risk associated with your Account, so that such funds may be temporarily unavailable, at our exclusive discretion. If PayPal places a Reserve in your Account, the transaction will be shown as "Pending" in your PayPal balance and you will not have access to funds in a pending status until they are cleared. If your Account is subject to a Reserve, PayPal will provide you with notice specifying the terms of such Reserve. For example, the terms may require that a certain percentage of the amounts received into your Account are held for a certain period of time, or that a certain amount of money is held in Reserve, or anything else that PayPal determines is necessary to protect against the risk associated with your Account. PayPal may change the terms of the Reserve at any time by providing you with notice of such new terms.

12.6 Actions by PayPal - Account Closure, Termination of Service, Limited Account Access; Confidential Criteria. PayPal reserves the right to suspend or terminate this Agreement and/or access to or use of PayPal's website, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf, or some or all of the PayPal Services due to disagreement, lack of commercial interest or compliance with applicable law and/or regulation, at any time upon prior written notice and release to you of any unrestricted funds held in your balance. If we limit access to your Account, including through a Reserve or hold, we will provide you with notice of our actions, and the opportunity to request restoration of access if we deem it appropriate. Further, you acknowledge that PayPal's decision to take certain actions, including limiting access to your Account, placing holds or imposing Reserves, may be based on confidential criteria, according to applicable law and/or that is essential to our management of risk, the security of Users' Accounts, the PayPal system and/or PayPal's services providers. You agree that PayPal is under no obligation to disclose the details of its risk management or its security procedures to you, except when such procedures do not involve confidential criteria.

12.7 Acceptable Use Policy Violations. If you violate the Acceptable Use Policy, then in addition to the above actions, you will be liable to PayPal for the amount of PayPal's damages for each violation of the Acceptable Use Policy. You agree to indemnify PayPal for all damages and losses PayPal may incur as a result of a violation of the Acceptable Use Policy considering all existing circumstances, including the range of damages and losses to PayPal. PayPal may deduct the amount equivalent to its indemnification directly from any existing balance in the Account of the offending User, or any other Account such User controls.

12.8 Compliance with Data Protection Laws. With regard to any personal data processed by either PayPal or a Receiving User in connection with this Agreement, each party agrees to comply with the requirements of the applicable Data Protection Laws with respect to the provision of their respective services and otherwise in connection with this Agreement. For the avoidance of doubt, PayPal and the Receiving User each have their own, independently determined privacy policies, notices and procedures for the personal data they hold as a data controller.

12.8.1 In complying with the Data Protection Laws, PayPal as well as Receiving Users shall, without limitation:

- a. implement and maintain at all times all appropriate security measures in relation to the processing of personal data;
- b. maintain a record of all processing activities carried out under this Agreement; and

Likewise, if, as a Receiving User, you commence or have a proceeding commenced against you for civil insolvency, actual or presumed, PayPal will be entitled to recover all reasonable costs or expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses) incurred in connection with the enforcement of this Agreement. 14.1 Definition. "In-Store Checkout" means the use of PayPal as a payment method for an online transaction that occurs in a seller's physical location, using an access device authorized by us for this purpose (for example, a mobile phone number).

14.2 How It Works and Authorization. In-Store Checkout allows you, Paying User, to make payments using your Account with PayPal in a Receiving User's physical store if such Receiving User accepts PayPal as a payment method. 14.4 Preapproved Payments for In-Store Checkout. For purposes of Section 3.8 of this Agreement (Preapproved Payments), you, Paying User, may set Preapproved Payments for In-Store Checkout transactions. If we are not able to get an authorization from the Preferred Payment Methods you have set with us but we allow you to proceed with the transaction and pay the Receiving User, you authorize us to debit your Account or any of the Payment Methods linked to your Account to recover any amounts we paid the Receiving User on your behalf. We will only recover up to the amount of the In-Store Checkout transaction you authorized and we paid to the Receiving User. You may cancel this authorization by logging into your Account and clicking on "My Preapproved Payments" in your Account Profile. You can create a Wish List by adding a product or service directly to your list by logging into your Account, or through searches in your previous purchases with PayPal. The results of any search on PayPal shopping will be generated by third party service providers of PayPal. These search results can be saved into your Wish List. PayPal has no liability for the search results generated by its third party service providers, the information contained in those results, or the failure of any Receiving User to honor the price or terms included in the search results.
