These are the terms and conditions which apply to the use of Pay in 30 Days, a credit which is provided by PayPal (Europe) S.à r.l et Cie, S.C.A., 22-24 Boulevard Royal, L-2449 Luxembourg and are incorporated by reference into the PayPal User Agreement.

1. Eligibility

PayPal offers you ("you" or "borrower") the use of Pay in 30 Days under certain conditions. PayPal reserves the right to decide in its sole discretion, in particular after performing eligibility and credit checks, to whom the Pay in 30 Days feature will be offered

2. How Pay in 30 Days works

When you use Pay in 30 Days, we will provide you with an electronic money amount equal to the transaction amount. By selecting the payment method Pay in 30 Days and accepting the terms and conditions, you instruct us to provide the electronic money amount equal to the transaction amount directly to the merchant's PayPal account. You will pay this amount 30 days after the transaction date. No further action is required on your part. We will automatically debit the transaction amount from your bank account via SEPA direct debit on that date.

3. Credit check

If you want to make a payment with Pay in 30 Days, we will first check your creditworthiness and may also obtain information about you from Credit Reference Agencies. You can find more information about PayPal's identity check and data exchange with Credit Reference Agencies here. In our Privacy Hub on our website www.paypal.de or in the PayPal Privacy Statement for payments processed by PayPal, you will find a list of the Credit Reference Agencies from which we may request information.

4. Payment by direct debit

- a. To use Pay in 30 Days, you must have a valid bank account linked to your PayPal account on the day the payment is due. If you have objected to the payment, you must have a valid bank account linked to your PayPal account at least until the reversal of the transaction. You must also have given PayPal an effective SEPA direct debit mandate to collect the transaction amount. By using Pay in 30 Days, you authorize PayPal to collect the transaction amount from the bank account you have specified by direct debit. The collection will be initiated on the relevant due date. We will inform you by e-mail a few days before the due date about the upcoming collection.
- b. If you want to change the linked account from which the transaction amount is collected, you can change the bank account details in your PayPal account. In this case, you may need to grant PayPal a new SEPA direct debit mandate, if not already in place.
- c. If you use Pay in 30 Days for a transaction, we will debit the full transaction amount from your bank account even if your PayPal balance covers the transaction amount. The use of gift certificates or other special payment arrangements (as listed in the Special Funding Arrangements section of the PayPal User Agreement) is excluded when you use Pay in 30 Days. Pay in 30 Days cannot be used with other payment sources such as credit cards.
- d. If PayPal is not successful in collecting the full transaction amount by direct debit, you authorize PayPal to repeat the collection by direct debit. If the direct debit fails a second time, PayPal may use other payment sources you have on file in your PayPal account to recover the transaction amount. The hierarchy of payment sources as defined in the Funding payments you send from your account section of the PayPal User Agreement will be applied. If we are still unable to recover the transaction amount, we may exercise our rights in accordance with the provisions in the section headed Our Rights of the PayPal User Agreement.
- e. For each failed direct debit, the account-holding bank charges PayPal a fee. PayPal is accordingly entitled to charge you a lump sum of EUR 2.80 per failed direct debit. You reserve the right to prove that we have incurred no damage or substantially less damage.
