Please read this document.

We're making changes to the legal agreements that govern your relationship with PayPal.

We encourage you to carefully review this notice to familiarise yourself with the changes that are being made.

You do not need to do anything to accept the changes as they will automatically come into effect on the Effective Dates shown below. Should you decide you do not wish to accept them you can notify us before the above date to close your account (https://www.paypal.com/uk/cgi-bin/?&cmd=_close-account) immediately without incurring any additional charges.

We do hope, however, that you continue to use PayPal and enjoy the following benefits:

It's faster

You don't have to type in your card details each time you pay, so you can check out faster online.

It's easier

PayPal is the preferred web payment method in the UK because it's a smarter, savvier way to pay online in just a few clicks. All you need is your email address and a password.

Please review the current Legal Agreements in effect.

With effect on and from February 28, 2018, if you are a User with your registered address with your registered address outside of the UK, PayPal may disapply section 3.6.c. and use your Preferred Funding Source to obtain E-money to cover certain Payment Orders even if you have pre-existing Balance, subject further to the terms of the PayPal User Agreement. 1. Control and protection of personal data

When you use PayPal’s services to receive payments from your customers, both you and PayPal will be using the personal data of those customers. We have amended section 5.7 to outline PayPal’s and your agreed respective positions at law (and your obligations) regarding the use of personal data of your customers and other individuals in connection with your use of PayPal’s services. Section 5.7 now reads as follows (with added wording underlined):

“5.7 Your Refund Policy, Data Protection, Privacy Policy and Security. We recommend that if you are selling goods or services you have a published return policy and a published privacy policy on your website.

Your privacy policy must clearly and expressly indicate that all PayPal transactions are subject to the PayPal Privacy Policy. You must employ reasonable administrative, technical and physical measures to maintain the security and confidentiality of any and all PayPal data and information, including data and information about PayPal users and PayPal.

Compliance with Data Protection Laws. With regard to any personal data processed by PayPal and the merchant in connection with this Agreement, PayPal and the merchant will respectively each be a controller in respect of such processing. PayPal and the merchant agree to comply with the requirements of the Data Protection Laws applicable to controllers in respect of the provision of their respective services and otherwise in connection with this Agreement. For the avoidance of doubt, PayPal and the merchant each have their own, independently determined privacy policies, notices and procedures for the personal data they hold and are each a data controller (and not joint data controllers). In complying with the Data Protection Laws, PayPal and the merchant shall, without limitation:

- a. implement and maintain at all times all appropriate security measures in relation to the processing of personal data;
- b. maintain a record of all processing activities carried out under this Agreement; and
- c. not knowingly do anything or permit anything to be done which might lead to a breach by the other party of the Data Protection Laws.

In addition to our rights under section 10.2, where we determine that there has been or that there is a reasonable likelihood of a security breach of your website or systems that could result in the unauthorised disclosure of customer information, we may take any other actions we deem necessary and/or require you to provide us with information related to any such breach.”

2. Holds according to your instructions

We have added a new section 5.9 headed “Holds according to your instructions” to outline what happens when you use PayPal functionality that allows you (whether directly or via someone you permit to act on your behalf, like an online marketplace platform on which you transact as a seller) to instruct PayPal to hold your funds for a certain period of time. New section 5.9 reads as follows:

“5.9 Holds according to your instructions. Certain PayPal functionality may allow you (whether directly or via someone you permit to act on your behalf under section 15.9a, like an online marketplace platform on which you transact as a seller) to instruct PayPal to hold your funds (including the proceeds of payments you receive using PayPal) in your Reserve Account. In such a case we will show you the availability status of those funds in your PayPal Balance – the status descriptions may differ according to the functionality you used to instruct us to place the hold. PayPal will release the hold on the funds according to the instruction that you (or the entity that you have permitted to act on your behalf under section 15.9a) give to PayPal, subject to the rest of this Agreement.”

3. Examples of items/transactions/cases that are not eligible for PayPal seller protection

We have amended section 11.10c (root section 11.10 headed “What are examples of items/transactions/cases that are not eligible for PayPal seller protection?”) to clarify that all transactions processed otherwise than through the buyer’s PayPal account or as a PayPal guest checkout transaction are not eligible for coverage under PayPal seller protection. Section 11.10c (presented in context with the root clause) now reads as follows (with added/amended wording underlined):

“11.10 What are examples of items/transactions/cases that are not eligible for PayPal seller protection?

c. Transactions processed otherwise than through the buyer’s PayPal account or as a PayPal guest checkout transaction. For example, if the payment was received as a direct card payment (including through Zong, Website Payment Pro, Virtual Terminal and PayPal Here), then it is not eligible for coverage.”

4. Fees - Personal Transaction payment Fees

We have made amendments to:

- Section A1 of Schedule 1, which outlines how Fees relating to Personal Transaction payments are calculated; and
- Section A4 of Schedule 1 (Glossary), which:

- a. outline that only the sender (not the recipient) now pays the Personal Transaction payment Fees;
- b. clarify the Fees charged for sending a Domestic Personal Transaction payment from Balance automatically obtained from a pre-paid card;
- c. clarify how we calculate and collect from you Fees charged in different currencies when you send a payment; and
- d. introduce a new Fee framework for sending Cross Border Personal Transaction payments, under which you will pay to PayPal:
 - a fixed Personal Transaction payment Fee depending on the country of the recipient’s Account; and
 - for the portion of the payment amount sent from Balance automatically obtained for the payment from all Funding Sources other than bank account, an additional Personal Transaction payment Fee of 3.4% plus Fixed Fee (charged in the currency in which your payment is received).

A4. Glossary

A4.1 A "Commercial Transaction" payment involves buying and selling goods and services, making any other commercial transaction or receiving payments when you "request money" using PayPal.

A4.2 A "Personal Transaction" payment involves sending money (initiated from the "Friends and Family" tab of the "Send Money" flow) to, and receiving money into your PayPal Account from, friends and family without making an underlying commercial transaction (that is, the payment is not for the purchase of goods or services or for making any other commercial transaction).

If you are making a commercial transaction (for instance selling goods or services), you may not ask the buyer to send you a Personal Transaction payment for the purchase. If you do so, PayPal may remove your ability to accept any or all payments for Personal Transactions. Please also note that:

A4.2.1 you cannot send money for a Personal Transaction from some countries (including China and (in some cases) Germany);

A4.2.3 the sender pays the Fee.

A4.3 A "Domestic" payment occurs when both the sender and receiver are registered with PayPal as resident in the same country.
